Financial Markets Regulatory Roundtable—Fourth in a Series

The Obama Administration and the New Congress: Outlook for Financial Services Legislative and Regulatory Initiatives

Speakers: A. Patrick Doyle, Partner, Co-Chair, Financial Services Practice, Arnold & Porter, New York
John D. Hawke, Jr., Partner, Financial Services Practice, Arnold & Porter, Washington, DC; Comptroller of the Currency, 1998-2004; Treasury Undersecretary for Domestic Finance, 1995-1998
Martha L. Cochran, Partner, Public Policy and Legislative Practice, Arnold & Porter, Washington, DC; Chief Counsel and Staff Director, US Senate Subcommittee on Securities of the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs, 1989-1994; Senator Christopher Dodd's Legislative Director, 1987-1989

As the new Congress gets down to business and with the Obama Administration in place, financial institutions and other industry participants should be prepared for a busy Washington agenda. Senator Dodd and Congressman Frank, the chairmen of the committees with primary jurisdiction over financial services regulation, have announced ambitious agendas. President Obama has promised a new "21st-century regulatory framework" for financial services and markets, and his economic team is working to develop a package of reform proposals. In this Roundtable, our attorneys will provide insight and perspective as to what the financial services industry can expect from Congress and the Obama Administration in 2009 and beyond.

SAVE THE DATES! We will be conducting Financial Markets Regulatory Roundtables over the next few months, or longer, as significant new developments of interest to the financial services community arise. The tentative dates for future discussions are: February 24 and March 24.

Given the rapidly-changing world of financial markets and institutions, topics will be dictated by events and developments in the industry and in Washington and will be announced as the dates approach.
