TERRORISM, CRIME & BUSINESS SYMPOSIUM

UNDERSTANDING THE FUNDAMENTAL
LEGAL & SECURITY LIABILITY
ISSUES FOR AMERICAN BUSINESS

APRIL 30TH - MAY 1ST, 2009

FEDERAL RESERVE BANK, HOUSTON BRANCH
1801 ALLEN PARKWAY, HOUSTON, TEXAS 77019

SYMPOSIUM FOCUS

This first of its kind symposium presents a unique opportunity for American business entities to receive critical information on the emerging area of civil liability lawsuits brought by victims of terrorism or crime against an “affected target,” i.e., a particular business. Not only will internationally recognized subject matter experts in law and security provide the latest developments in this area of “premises liability,” but participants will receive actionable information regarding specific ways that businesses - both in the United States and overseas - can mitigate potential legal liability as a result of acts of terrorism or crime. The symposium focuses on these issues as they operate in both the physical world and cyberspace.

SPONSORSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

The Center for Terrorism Law invites corporations, professionals, and entrepreneurial entities to join in the sponsorship of the Center and this groundbreaking event.

- Platinum Sponsorship is $10,000 (ten admissions).
- Gold Sponsorship is $5,000 (five admissions).

EVENTS AT A GLANCE

Five Main Symposium Themes:

- An overview of the aims and objectives of the global terror threat posed by al-Qa’eda-styled terror groups, sub-State terror groups, and “lone-wolf” terrorists.
- An analysis of the specific threats to American business sectors that are deemed part of the nation’s “critical infrastructure,” i.e., energy, petrochemical, electric utilities, communication, transportation, health, banking and finance, agriculture, water and shipping.
- An understanding of premises liability and the varied legal issues associated with terrorism and criminal negligence claims against businesses that have suffered a terror attack or serious criminal act in cyberspace or the physical world.
- An examination of federal security standards and benefits of federal law.
- A comprehensive review of how to develop appropriate physical security methods.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

This symposium is designed for business leaders, corporate security managers, insurance company executives, and attorneys throughout the United States.
